Allies Will not Provide Food for the Russians

(By Associated Press)

Declarations that Germany will not acquiesce in the demands made upon her by the peace treaty continued to come from high sources in the German government.

President Ebert is quoted in Berlin dispatches as having reiterated at a Sunday demonstration in Berlin that the peace terms never would be signed by Germany.

Meanwhile, the uncertainty that had prevailed over the status of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation has been solved. The Count, who left Paris Saturday for Spa to meet government representatives from Berlin, and who, it was reported, would not return because of differences in the determination of Germany's peace policy, is back in Versailles.

He reported there this morning, as likewise did Herr Landsberg and Herr Giesbert and two other members of the delegation, who went to Berlin last week for consultation. Their return makes the personnel of the German delegation at Versailles again complete.

Germany's note in relation to the status of her religious mission in foreign lands was taken up by the Council of Four at its meeting this morning. The details of its proposals have not been made public.

The council has also planned to consider matters relative to Bulgaria and Turkey. The presentation of the Austrian delegates' credentials was set for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Dispatches from Paris indicate that no further efforts would be made by the Allies to provide food for the Russian people, as a result of the refusal of the Bolshevik foreign minister Tchitcherin of Russia to meet the allied conditions, which stipulated that the Bolsheviks would stop making war on countries adjacent to Russia.

Premier Paderewski of Poland is expected to arrive in Paris Thursday. The crisis which has developed in his country, it is believed in peace conference circles, can be adjusted so that Paderewski will retain office as Premier.

A dispatch from Paris says that he may ask that Poland be released from promises made relative to hostilities with the Ukraine.

A truce was recently arranged between Poland and the Ukraine, but recent reports have declared that the Ukrainian peasant leader Petlura has gone over to the Bolsheviks.

N. C. 4 Tunes Up for Continuation of Flight to Ponta Delgada

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 19.—The lost naval seaplane N. C. 3 commanded by Commander John H. Towers lost in mid-Atlantic since 5:15 Saturday morning, was today reported proceeding toward Ponta Delgada, under her own power 7 miles from land.

The message was received at the navy department early this afternoon from Rear Admiral Jackson and said: "N. C. 3 located seven miles north of Ponta Delgada under her own power."

The message was filed at 12:10 p. m. Washington time, and while it made no mention of the crew, naval officers were certain Commander Towers and four men were safe. Details of the men's experience during the 48 hours spent in fog and storm were expected after the N. C. 3 reached port.

Admiral Jackson's report was taken to mean that Commander Towers, after being forced to alight on the water had been driven northward and eastward until able to taxi his craft to safety on the surface probably 500 miles from the point where fog had forced him down when within a short distance of the "land fall" at the Azores.

Harry Hawker, "Hopping Off" at New Foundland Sunday is Reported Near Irish Coast.

REPORT UNCONFIRMED

Making 2,000 Mile Flight in Plane Without Poonoon Equipment

LANDS IN THE SEA

London, May 19.—

(9:18 p. m. Bulletin)—

Harry Hawker was compelled to land in the sea within 100 miles of Dingle Bay, according to a Central News dispatch reporting a wireless message at Limerick.

The aviator evidently was making for the estuary of the River Shannon.

(By Associated Press)

London, May 19.—The manager of the Sopwith Airplane Company received a report at 5:00 this afternoon that Aviator Hawker was 150 miles off Ireland at 4:00 p. m. today.

The air ministry announced shortly after five that it had no confirmation of the report that Hawker was off Ireland at four o'clock.

HAWKER'S START

St. Johns, N. F., May 18.—Harry G. Hawker Australian aviator and Commander Mackenzie Grieve, his navigator, are winging their way across the Atlantic tonight on the most perilous airplane flight in history.

They took the air at 2:55 p. m. today, Greenwich time (1:55 p. m. New York time), and expected to reach the Irish coast in twenty hours unless some accident forces them to plunge into the sea.

If the daring Australian wins his gamble with death, it will bring him first honor in the non-stop trans-Atlantic race, undying fame and a rich prize.

OPPONENT FAILS

When the Sopwith biplane passed from view beyond the hills it left behind with shattered hopes Hawker's English rival, Frederick P. Raynham, who had hoped to be first across in a Martinsyde plane and win glory and the $50,000 prize of the London Daily Mail. Raynham was tuning up the engine of his machine when Hawker flashed over the Englishman's air-drome.

Raynham and his navigator Charles W. F. Morgan realized then that the Australian was on his way. Instantly they tried to follow him.

As the Martinsyde "taxied" along the uneven surface of the runway preparatory to the take off a rear axle broke under its heavy load and the machine ploughed into the ground. Pilot and navigator were jammed in the wreckage but apparently neither was seriously hurt.

Adjournment Taken Until Tuesday.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 19.—Promptly at noon today the extraordinary session of Congress got smoothly under way. With republicans in the majority in both branches the leaders plunged into the work of organization.

In both House and Senate the program started off as had been planned. The usual prayers and then the reading of President Wilson's proclamation preceded the calling of the rolls.

The immediate work before the Congress, the Sixty-sixth of the American Republic, is passage before July 1st of seven regular annual appropriations bills which failed in the filibuster last March.

By a majority of five votes the republicans took control of the Senate, electing Senator Cummins president pro tempore and defeating Senator Dittman of Nevada, democrat, by a vote of 47 to 42.

In the House the republicans effected organization by electing Representative Gillette of Massachusetts, speaker, over Champ Clark, of Missouri, speaker for the last eight years, by a vote of 227 to 172.

After the republicans completed their organization the Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

WHERE SOME OF THE TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIERS HOPE TO LAND

Marking landing field for airplanes at Banemore near Limerick, Ireland.

A huge field at Banemore, not far from Limerick, Ireland, is the goal picked out by some of the airplane crews planning to attempt flights across the Atlantic. The photo shows a man painting a huge white cross on the field to make the landing spot more easily visible to aviators.

ditorium and many were unable to gain entrance.

The procession was formed by the Class of '19, in Caps and gowns, coming down one aisle and taking the seats reserved for them in front while the Glee Clubs came down the opposite aisle and were seated on the stage. They sang with fine volume and effect "Lead On King Eternal," Mrs. Helen Kennedy at the piano.

Rev. J. L. McWilliams delivered the Baccalaureate sermon and three of the city ministers, Rev. Grove, Rev. Cherrington and Rev. Ferguson, of the Church of Christ, Methodist and First Baptist Churches.

Rev. McWilliams developed an inspiring and forceful line of thought in his able Baccalaureate address.

Rev. McWilliams introduced his sermon by referring to the significance of certain numbers in Bible study and that whether there was any significance in it or not the number eleven seemed to be associated with the great events of this age. Armistice 11th hour of 11th day of 11th month 1918. In casting about for an appropriate text the lot fell on the 11th verse of 11th chapter of Deuteronomy, "For the land whither ye go to possess it will be a land of hills and valleys."

After extending the usual congratulations of the occasion the minister reminded the class that their's was a commencement in the new sense as the first graduating class in the new era of the world's life. The text suggested first the key note of life—that of possessing.

In a sense the graduating class had up to the present time been possessed. They had been under parental control and school discipline. But in this their commencement day they are facing the promised land of their own endeavors. It is to a land of untold possibilities and their success would depend upon whether they become masters of themselves and of the situation of whether they permit themselves to be mastered by circumstance. When God breaks the bondage of the soul you begin to see in the distance, the hill-tops of the promised land. It will be a land of opportunity and freedom. It will be a land of hills and valleys, whose heights will be measured by their own souls and whose depths be bounded by their own hearts. This is life's first great temptation—to stay in the level country, where life seems easy and to leave it means to many mountains to climb.

Life's real possession, however comes through struggle and conquest. Both hill and valley have a bright and dark aspect. The mountain may mean attainment or it may represent some barriers or limitations. It may be luminous or it may be storm swept. The valley may be either a place of fertility and rich harvest or it may be a place where the shadows linger. We must not for get the valley when we are on the hill-top, nor the hill-top when we are in the valley. The determination to possess the land of hill and valley means the development of personality and this is the key which unlocks all the treasures of the universe.

Rev. McWilliams gave to the text a wider application in closing; tracing the analogy between the tyranny that called the Israelites out of Egypt and started them on their journey to Canaan and the tyranny and oppression that drove our forefathers to America.

And because in the name of God and in the spirit of Christ they undertook to possess this land, it is a land of freedom and opportunity. Spoke of its vastness and resources. But our future depends upon our ideals and spirit. Our conquests have been not for colony or power but for righteousness.

Once more in a terrific struggle we have settled the question as to whether we will be possessed by might and militarism or whether we will possess in the name of God. Before us is a time of great spiritual conquest. A vast country of hills and valleys stretches before us. Will we go out and possess it?"

The Methodist Centenary move-vance toward the final goal, and in some instances the smaller churches of the county went over the top in good shape, some having a surplus sufficient to take care of any shrinkage in pledges made.

Some $0 men of Grace M. E. church made a personal canvass Sunday af-obtained was in excess of $13,000.

Several days will be devoted to ob-

Some $3,000 indebtedness of the church, and $2,000 pledged for the Conference Claimant's fund also will be paid out of the large fund being raised in the Centenary movement.

The Centenary fund exclusive of the above obligations, for Grace Church is $36,500, to be paid in a period of five years.

It is expected that some time this week when all members are seen, if the present ratio is maintained, the church will go over the top with its quota. Much depends upon those not yet visited.

The Uniforms

The returned soldiers and sailors, to whom the people of Fayette county have arranged to extend a welcome on May 27, are requested to wear their service uniforms and there are rumors that some of the returned boys are disinclined to accede to the request.

Well, we can understand how they feel about it. It is not strange that they welcome the opportunity to appear in citizens' clothes.

They have worn the uniforms so long that they are a little tired and want the change. Then, too, some of the boys are modest—and are not disposed to make themselves too conspicuous. They are filled with the great American ideals of civilian life and now that the war is over want to be just what they are—citizens of the United States.

As a general rule they are right. There can be no higher ambition than that which aims at the American citizenship, but this time is different. The home folks want to see their boys in the glorious uniform of the army of Uncle Sam, they want to welcome them and see them as they looked when the intelligence and power of America's manhood broke the Hun lines and wrested the initiative from the armies of the Kaiser and made liberty safe for all time.

The home folks spent many an anxious day and hour while our boys were at the front. Here in an inland city the majority of us have not seen just how our own boys looked in service—we want to see them.

The Same Germans

Beyond doubt the German leaders realize their crushing defeat but a large percentage of the masses have not yet wakened up to the fact that the "all highest and all powerful" regime has passed away forever.

The actions and the words of the German envoys at Paris are proof of another and discouraging condition. Neither the German leaders nor the German masses have yet learned that honesty and fair dealing with other nations and other peoples must govern them in the future.

Coming to Paris to receive the final treaty of peace, making loud protestations of their humbleness and asking aid and mercy from their conquerors those same German leaders had, in advance of their departure from Germany, prepared a villianous and false propaganda designed to array the German masses in hostility to the peace treaty—propaganda to Germany and to the world against the treaty of peace, the terms of which they knew nothing about.

And yet there are some people right here in America who are beginning to weaken on the treaty terms, expressing fear that its provisions may be too severe. No treaty could be too severe at this time. Later along, if we find that we have been successful in drilling through the skulls and puncturing the conceit of the Germans and that they are actually trying to do better, if the terms prove too harsh, they may be modified.

The Transatlantic Flight

The American aviators are first through those vast uncharted and, heretofore, untraversed spaces of the air, which since time began, have reached away in all their vastness above the mighty storm-tossed ocean rolling between the coast of New Foundland and the Azores.

The sturdy navy seaplane N. C. 4 was first to land after a sixteen hundred mile flight, maintaining an average speed of 85 miles during the 15 hours and 14 minutes required to make the flight.

America is justly proud of the achievement of her airmen. Especially is the navy department pleased that the trip of the N. C. 4 was crowned with success—a success which is largely due to the splendid discipline and tireless industry of the navy department.

Not since the interest of America was centered in war activities have we been so intent on the accomplishment of an objective as we have in the trans-Atlantic flight.

To the Americans must be given the glory for the first success in trans-Atlantic air navigation. The whirl and rumble of the Yankee planes was the first man-made contrivance to disturb the vast chambers of the air spaces above the ocean since time began. Even the strongest birds have not dared a trans-Atlantic flight unless following in the trail of some steamer which furnished provisions and a resting place and, certainly, no living thing had ever even thought of attempting a voyage so far above the surface of the ocean.

There is another supreme satisfaction, too, obtainable from the success of the N. C. 4—it is such an emphatic silencer on those Americans who have been loudly proclaiming the inferiority of the liberty motor, the failure of American aircraft construction, the inefficiency of the navy and—well it settles a great many things, which have been made the subject of complaint.

POETRY FOR TODAY

THE STARS OF GOLD.

Our heroes they are coming
What a glorious sight to see
Our lads who fought on Flanders field

That our country might be free
They have faced the German bullets
They have faced the snow and rain and did it all so willing
That peace again might reign.
Anw while we shout our "welcomes"
With tears and joys which are untold
Remember, that God has welcomed
The Stars that turn to Gold.

You fought for home and country
You did not think of fame
But the world will long remember
You have not fought in vain
And God in all His wisdom
Whose wonders are untold
He will reward those Heroes
Whose Stars have turned to Gold.
We'll ne'er flod our flags away,
Nor let our love grow cold
But we will keep the Stars of Blue
And God the Stars of Gold
There is no honor too great to give
Our Heroes brave and bold
And let us remember that some sweet day,
We'll meet those Stars of Gold.

—Ethel Steele.

THE PROSPERITY RAINBOW IN THE GREAT AMERICAN WHEAT BELT

OHIO FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

By
Mrs. George Elliott
McCormick,
Director of Press.

Program Material.

Mrs. A. B. Pyke, Cleveland, state chairman of literature for the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, has a message for every club woman in Ohio—a message carrying the patriotic hope of the state committee that club women everywhere will become the leaders in the Americanization end of the government's reconstruction work. The following study outlines will be useful to clubs and may be secured through the state committee on literature: Literature of the great war, French history, literature and language and three bulletins for 1919 work. Send inquiries for help and suggestions to the members of the state committee representing your club district, the various district heads being as follows: Northwest, Mrs. G. H. Crane, Fayette; Central, Mrs. George F. Arps, No. 216 East Lane Avenue, Columbus; Middle-West, Mrs. B. F. Hughes, Greenville; Northeast, Mrs. J. R. Grant, No. 78 Saxton street, Struthers; Southwest, Mrs. Claude Chrisman, No. 44 High street, Dayton; Middle-East, Mrs. E. G. Harrison; Middle-north, Mrs. Will Scott, No. 1642 Coventry road, Cleveland; Southeast, Mrs. Mary T. Noss, Athens.

Home for Girls.

Lima club women are always on the qui vive to better conditions wherever possible. Co-operating with the Salvation army there, the Lima Federation of Women's clubs has opened a home at No. 111 north West street, where any girl is made welcome. The federation furnished the equipment for the Salvation army venture and when the campaign drive to raise $50,000 for a permanent Salvation army home is completed, the club women will turn over all the furniture for it.

Busy Federation Head.

Mrs. Prentice E. Rood, of Toledo, president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, Friday evening of last week was the guest of honor at a reception given by the Ashtabula County Federation of Women's Clubs at Conneaut. She remained for the meeting the following day. She also paid Cleveland a visit, devoting a day in the Forest City with city federation officials making preliminary plans for the great "Victory Silver Jubilee" state convention in October. Mrs. Rood expects soon to send out letters to club presidents in Ohio urging club women to meet all obligations. No other comment is necessary further than to say that loyalty on the part of every club woman means that all of us must follow our president's appeal. We must do this, if we are to close the year with "a clean slate." We should, if humanly possible, discharge every last one of our obligations.

Good Thing, Pass Along.

Copies of the state federation year book for 1917-18 have recently been mailed to Ohio club presidents. Now, if each club president will pass the year book around among her fellow club members so that they may read it, general club efficiency will attain a very much higher standard. It's a wonderful record, this year book of ours, and club women should read it. It was compiled and edited by Mrs. Charles R. Chesley, No. 2270 Jefferson avenue, Norwood, recording secretary of the state federation. Copies may be obtained through her upon the payment of twenty-five cents.

Babies' Clinic at Bucyrus.

Mrs. James R. Hopley, Bucyrus, former state federation president, is one of the organizers of a new enterprise to be opened in the near future in her home city—a babies' clinic. Recently, with Mrs. Blanch Morrissey, Red Cross public health nurse at Bucyrus, Mrs. Hopley visited the prophylactic and sick babies' dispensary in Cleveland to study methods used there. Before the dissolution of the woman's committee of the council of national defense, the Bucyrus city federation voted that the surplus fund in the treasury be used in establishing a permanent babies' dispensary. Mrs. Hopley was made chairman of a committee to "see it through."

Better Late Than Never.

One of the many good things heard at the Southeast District conference was a talk, "Preparing the Soldiers for Civilian Life," by Major LeRoy Smith, Camp Sherman. He told how the government was training the disabled soldier to become self-supporting through a vocational teaching corps, many of the wonders performed being a revelation to the majority of his hearers.

Victory Gardens.

Is your club boosting victory gardens? Have your civic committee take this important victory problem up with your school superintendent. An interesting set of motion-picture slides on victory gardening can be secured by any federation or club for public production to arouse interest in the movement. Address Roland Guss, victory garden committee, Cincinnati.

It Makes Some Echo

The Glen Echo Child Welfare League of Columbus claims to have been the first federated organization in Ohio to take up community singing. Its motto is "Better Things for Our Boys and Girls." It has a membership of fifty. Its yearly calendar is prepared by the program committee. The money-getting force of the organization is lodged with the ways-and-means committee. The good times, of course, are provided by the social committee. The welfare committee paid $36.50 for keeping a French orphan has been "adopted" for another year; five dollars for a Christmas present for a French orphan; bought sixty toys for children's home, and automobile load of food and clothing for needy families, etc. Then Glen Echo has its patriotic committee, which turned over to the Red Cross, among other things, fifty scrap books, ten story books, 105 victrola records, sixty-five wipes, thirty-three pillows, fifty-one comforts, fifty property bags, twenty-eight blankets, four spreads, 167 helmets, sweaters and socks. Besides, the sum of $35 was given to the city federation and $80 to the baby camp fund.

1, 1912. Two sisters and a brother also survive to share their sorrow.

During the whole of a long, happy life Mr. Moore was ever engaged in active, useful, and unselfish service to the community and his fellow men. For nineteen years he rendered valued service as a teacher in the public schools, for which profession he had taken preparation at Salem Academy, Salem, O. His teaching was mainly in Ross and Pike counties, several of his own children having the pleasure of attending his schools as pupils.

In 1883 he moved to Clinton County and engaged in farming that year. In 1884 he moved to Fayette County which has been his residence since. He engaged in farming and tile making for the next twenty years, when he moved to Good Hope, and conducted a grain elevator and coal business until his retirement from active business in 1916.

During all these years he maintained an active interest in community affairs, unselfish giving of his time to serve public interests at any time. He enjoyed attending Sunday School and Church services, and was a constant and diligent student of the Bible and commentaries.

The love and affection he lavished upon his family, and the pride and interest he took in their welfare and success were of such character that they who are left to mourn his memory feel that they have suffered an irreparable loss. The immensity of their grief and sorrow can only be assuaged by the healing effects of time, the realization that he will always be alive in the hearts of those who knew and loved him, and the knowledge that he is now at peace, in the windowless palace of rest, reunited with his loved ones who had gone before.

CARD OF THANKS.

Talcum That Delights

The Skin

Imagine a talcum as fine as mist, scented with a perfume of distinction and rare charm—a talcum free from any irritating particle, but having instead an almost incredible smoothness—why, there you have a correct definition of Garden Court Talcum.

The package is handsome in its simplicity of design in which the new "Nelson blue" is dominant; but much more important is the fact that the powder itself is all it should be—smooth, soothing, satisfying, and marking a standard of excellence seldom if ever hitherto attained. The richness of its scent is due entirely to the Garden Court perfume blended from thirty-two flowers and perfectly balanced, price 25c.

118 14 COMMITTEE.

MRS. W. N. BEAN DIES SUNDAY MORNING

Friends are deeply sympathizing with Mrs. H. T. Wilkin, of this city, and sisteg, Mrs. Howard Tolle, of Hillsboro, in the death of their mother, Mrs. W. N. Bean, which occurred at her home in Hillsboro Saturday night at two o'clock. For some weeks Mrs. Wilkin has been almost constantly with her mother, realizing that the illness from which she had been suffering for the past year was rapidly hastening the hour of separation, which would deprive the two daughters and little grandsons, Daniel and Philip Wilkin, of a rarely devoted mother and grandmother.

A very lovely woman, of sweet and gracious manner, Mrs. Bean's death is greatly regretted by a large acquaintance made in this city during frequent visits as well s in the town of her birth and life long association.

Mrs. Bean was the daughter of the late Daniel Scott, a wealthy financier of Hillsboro and has been prominently associated with the social, club and church life of that place and very active in Red Cross work during the war period.

Besides her two children she is survived by her mother, a twin sister, Mrs. Sarah Durnell, who is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sarah Patton, of this city, and a brother, Mr. Charles Scott.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon with a number of friends from here attending.

CLASS MEMORIALS TO BE UNVEILED

The Public School Library is badly in need of books—dictionaries and reference books that are necessary for use in class work. PERSINGER HOME IN MILLWOOD IS TO BE HOSPITAL

Fayette Hospital Company Buys Old Persinger Homestead to be Converted Into Community Hospital.

Persinger Tract Brings a Total of $13,839.50 at Public Auction.

Following the purchase Saturday afternoon of the old Persinger homestead at Sheriff's sale, to The Fayette Hospital Company, announcement was made that the huge brick structure, containing some 18 rooms, will be remodeled and converted into a community hospital, and in this connection other important announcements are expected within a short time.

The homestead and a large lot upon which it is located, and a lot to the north were bid off at over $7,000.

The thirteen other lots into which the tract was divided were sold chiefly to the Persinger heirs, and the entire amount realized from the sale was $13,839.50.

The Persinger homestead is located on one of the highest points in the city, in a grove of trees, and the structure has massive brick walls and high ceilings, with rich woodwork and it is believed that with proper remodeling the big structure can be fashioned into a most attractive hospital with room for a large number of patients, and the hospital, which may result in the abandonment of the present Fayette Hospital on the corner of Court and North streets, is expected to meet local needs for a public hospital for many years to come.

The possibilities surrounding the purchase are many. The Persinger homestead tract was divided into 15 lots which sold as follows:

No. 1—$875, Minnie Case; No. 2—$550, Emma Pugsley; No. 3—$550, Minnie Case; No. 4—$540, Dr. W. E. Ireland; No. 5—$410, Mrs. Emma Pugsley; No. 6—$410, Charles Coffey;

Lots number 6, 7 and 1 of the Millwood addition were also sold as follows:

POPULAR PLAY AT PALACE THEATER

Manager McLean is bringing to the Palace Theater a film dramatization of "The Turn in the Road," a popular theatrical attraction of the past year, on Tuesday, May 20th.

It is a beautiful story of human love and sacrifice and has the emotional punch all through. The photodrama will give to Washington people the chance to see this play, which some time ago was put on at the Hartman Theater, Columbus.

"The Turn in the Road," a Brentwood Film Corporation production, released through Exhibitors Mutual, is a beautiful story beautifully told. The theme is one that is as old as the world and as universal as man, carrying a message of love, pathos and human emotion that makes the production one of absorbing human interest.

Paul Perry, son of a money-mad father, married the lovely daughter of a minister of the orthodox religion. When his wife died in child birth Paul lost faith in the "God to Whom the will of man should meekly bow," as he had been taught, and became a wanderer.

He went in quest of the true God, but sank to the depths of degradation in his search. After many years of unavailing search he returned to his old home to learn from the lips of his own child the truths the world could not teach him.

Into the story is woven the self-sacrifice and unflinching love of a girl, his dead wife's sister—who had devoted her life to the care of his little boy and taught him that "God is love." Little Bob, his son, by his child-like faith, melted the money-hardened heart of old Perry, incidentally saving his life from a gang of workmen who had been driven to desperation by his iron-fisted domination.

"The Turn in the Road" was written by King W. Vidor and produced under the personal direction of the author.

MUSSEL SHELLS ARE SCARCE

Vicennes, Ind., May 17.—The supply of mussel shells from which pearl buttons are made rapidly becoming scarce in the part of the Wabash river in this vicinity. Incidentally fewer and fewer pearls and slugs are being found in the shells.

Only a few years ago the price for select shells was $5 a ton and the digger prospered. Now the price is $40 a ton, and shells known as "wash boards" formerly discarded are included. A digger at present can only find about a hundred pounds a day.

Mussels now obtained are young and have not had sufficient time to develop slugs and pearls, the diggers assert. The highly colored "washboard" shells are cut into buttons, and no matter how thin a piece of shell happens to be, some use is found for it.

Regardless of the scarcity of shells indications are that there will be the usual number of diggers at work the coming summer. Most of them have hunted pearls for years. Vincennes broke into the limelight as a place where pearls might be found several years ago. One pearl from the Wabash was sold by the digger for $1,700 and another for $1,500. When placed on the market later by the purchasers it is said the pearls brought several thousand dollars. While the pearls are becoming scarce in proportion to the diminishing supply of mussels occasionally a good one is found. One weighing 35 grains was found recently.

WAR SHIPS FOR AUSTRALIANS

Melbourne, April 2.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The dozen warships lately given to Australia by the British Government as a mark of appreciation of Australia's naval efforts during the war will reach the Commonwealth probably in June. The gift consists of six destroyers and six submarines. The flotilla leader is named Anzac. The Acting Minister for the Navy, Mr. Poynton, says one of the problems facing the government is how to man the Australian navy with Australians.
